President's Message

by Steven M. Arkow '84

Although there remains much uncertainty in the months ahead as we spiral into the final stages of the U.S. presidential campaign, one thing is certain: the next president will no longer be a Harvard graduate. Alumni in Southern California, however, can rest assured that, with the election season recently completed for the Harvard Club of Southern California, without as much tumult, its next president is a Harvard graduate. I entered Harvard as a freshman with the Class of 1984, resided in the Union Dorms in Hurlbut Hall, and moved to Winthrop House (won one Straus Cup) until graduation.

This is my first newsletter as Club president, having spent the past few years on the Board as a vice president for communications, where one of my primary responsibilities was editing the newsletter, bringing back memories of my training at 14 Plympton Street for The Crimson.

Under the leadership of outgoing Club President Dr. Kay Park '87, the Club continued its tradition of sponsoring activities that cater to all ages and interests from recent graduates to mid-career professionals to empty nesters and retirees. With over 15,000 alumni in our area, the Club offers its members an exceptional network as well as a calendar that totals about 100 events each year. We have programs tailored to families with young children; speakers from the Harvard faculty and coaches, (including football coach Tim Murphy and men's basketball coach Tommy Amaker), presentations from prominent alumni; Discover Your City tours; behind-the-scenes opportunities at performing arts venues and sporting events; and networking mixers like our annual dinner, the Harvard Alumni Association Global Networking Nights, and joint ventures with other alumni clubs. You can read about the most recent summer events in this newsletter and see a list of past events on our website at www.harvard-la.org. We invite you to reconnect with your fellow alumni and attend one of our upcoming events.

In addition to sponsoring events, the Club offers our members many other ways to stay connected to Harvard. In another record-breaking year, our Schools and Scholarships Committee worked with alumni to interview more than 3,000 high school applicants to the Class of 2020. We organize a number of mentoring programs, including "Wintersession" internships and a summer session in which our Club provides stipends to students working in Los Angeles. You can tutor students through the Education Committee, sponsor a Prize Book for a promising high school student, participate in an Early College Awareness program in partnership with local public high schools, or volunteer at one of many local organizations during our "Harvard Serves" Global Month of Service held in the spring.

Our mission is to make our Club reflect you and your interests. Visit our website for a regularly updated list of upcoming events. We look forward to seeing you soon, and, in the meantime, heed the November admonition -- Beat Yale Early, and Beat Yale Often.

Harvard Latino Mentor Forum

In August of 2016, the Harvard Latino Alumni Alliance, in collaboration with the Harvard Club of Southern California, organized a successful Harvard Latino Mentorship Forum. This event was attended by a diverse group of Harvard students and alumni representing Harvard college and many of its graduate schools. The event began with a review of best practices of effective mentorship relationships. These practices include treating the mentor/mentee relationship with utmost caring, respect and integrity; setting clear goals and progress levels; listening and providing specific feedback; and staying connected by phone or email. All participants were then allowed to choose breakout group sessions that included Education, Government, Business, Law and Medicine. Each of these sessions was led by a corresponding Harvard graduate. At these sessions, students were able to connect with Harvard alumni who committed to help them to succeed in their studies, at work, and in life. All participants also received information on resources available to help maximize mentor/mentee relationships. For further information about getting involved in the Alliance and future forums, please contact Dr. Gus Frias at dr.gfrias@gmail.com.

HCSC Members Only!

Bring Your Family to an Exclusive Visit to Noah's Ark at the Skirball

Bring the whole family for an exclusive Harvard Club experience of Noah's Ark, the Skirball Cultural Center's innovative and unique destination for children and families, which won an Excellence in Exhibition award from the American Alliance of Museums. There is a maximum of 40 tickets available for Harvard Club members and their families.

Climb aboard a giant wooden ark amidst hundreds of whimsical, life-size animals made of found and re-purposed materials, and help bring to life the ancient tale of weathering life's storms and keeping the community afloat. Join the Skirball's Vice President and Director of Education Sheri Bernstein (MA '91), who served as the Noah's Ark Project Director, for an exploration of this fanciful space. Along with other Harvard parents and kids, you'll have the opportunity to work together before the exhibit opens to the public to create a storm with instruments and low-tech devices, help construct the ark, load animals up the ramp to safely climb in the ark's rafters, and much, much more.

Date: Sunday, September 18, 2016

Time: 9:45 A.M.

Location: Skirball Cultural Center (Los Angeles)

Cost: $12 for adults; $7 for children 2-12 years; Free for children under 2 years.

RSVP: www.Harvard-LA.org

Science Pub Series #9 - Halloween has never sounded better!

BOO! Bats have evolved the remarkable ability to use sound as a successful alternative to vision through “echolocation.” Celebrate Halloween with us as we learn about this incredible ability.

Dr. Alan Grinnell (UCLA), one of the pioneers in the field, will describe the versatility of bats, their different echolocation strategies, and the neural adaptations that enable their auditory nervous systems to extract the information they need from echoes. Much has been learned about the mechanisms of echolocation and their application to the scientific field, but major challenges remain. Join us for what will be a batacular event! Dr. Grinnell received his AB ('58) and PhD ('62) from Harvard and was a Junior Fellow (1959-62). After 2 years post-doctoral work at University College London, he joined the UCLA faculty, where he is now a Distinguished Professor in the Departments of Physiology and Integrative Biology and Physiology and an Associate Dean of Life Sciences.

Seating is limited. Tickets will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis.

Date: Sunday, October 23, 2016
Time: 3:00 - 5:00 P.M.
Location: Skylight Gardens Restaurant and Bar (Los Angeles)
Cost: $30 per person

Southern California's Harvard Class of 2020

On Saturday, July 30, HCSC Board member Dr. Sonia Molina DMD '89, MPH '89 hosted approximately 40 members of the incoming Harvard Class of 2020. Over pizza, snacks and drinks, the newest members of the Harvard community spent time getting to know one another, sharing summer experiences, and comparing notes about their freshmen housing assignments. Freshmen move-in day for the Class of 2020 was August 23, with classes scheduled to begin August 31.

According to Dan Medina '79, MBA '83, head of the HCSC Schools & Scholarship committee, "Harvard is expecting a large number of applications this year, and we anticipate Southern California to reach or exceed last year's level of interview requests. Harvard Admissions views the alumni interview as a critical component of a candidate's application, making it crucial for our area to have sufficient numbers of interviewers to meet the demands of the applicant pool." Alumni interested in serving as interviewers should contact Mr. Medina at dan@capknowledge.com. Both undergraduate and graduate alumni of Harvard University are eligible to serve as interviewers.

Q&A from 02138... Michael Sacks '17

Michael Sacks '17, a concentrator in Government, was born in Washington, D.C. and graduated from Sierra Canyon High School in Chatsworth, CA. He was elected the school's Student Body President in his senior year and also served as the captain of the debate team and the president of the local Future Business Leaders of America chapter. In 2013, he was elected the International President of United Synagogue Youth (USY), the youth movement of Conservative Judaism. Currently, he is a senior residing in Mather House. At Harvard, he is the Associate Business Manager of The Harvard Crimson and an Analyst with the Harvard College Consulting Group. He spent the summer of 2015 as a Mutual Funds Intern with Fidelity Investments and is excited to spend this summer in New York as an Investment Banking Summer Analyst with Citigroup's Mergers and Acquisitions team.

HCSC: What surprised you about being a student at Harvard?

MS: I was very surprised by the diversity of the student body and how quickly I was encouraged to interact with my peers. From my very first day at Harvard, I made friends with the students living in my entryway, who hailed from South Africa, China, France, and everywhere in between. These friendships have proven to be incredibly meaningful. I know that the friends I'm making at Harvard will last a lifetime.

HCSC: When was the first time you visited Harvard and what were your impressions at that time?

MS: The first time I visited Harvard, I actually thought the campus was very small! As an 8th-grader visiting on a field trip, I was only able to see the yard and Tercentenary Theatre. In spite of this, however, the grandness of the place struck me immediately. There's a certain feeling you get when you walk through Harvard Yard and that feeling inspires me to this day.

HCSC: What was your favorite class (or professor) and why?

MS: My favorite class so far has been Government 94xp, a seminar focusing on cyberpolitics and the intersection of technology and governance. We live in a quickly changing society characterized by rapid technological innovation; taking a class that helped me make sense of the new political landscape was both useful and engaging.

HCSC: What has been your funniest moment at Harvard?

MS: One of my favorite memories was when a friend and I decided to walk on to the junior varsity sailing team during my sophomore fall. We were excited to get out on the Charles River and sail with the team, but on our first trip out on the boat, my friend did not duck below the boom in time and flew into the water. To his credit, he got right back in the boat and tried again, at which point he promptly got hit by the boom again and fell back in the water.

HCSC: If you were President of Harvard, what would change?

MS: I would encourage firms outside of finance and consulting to recruit students on campus. Too often, I feel that students apply to jobs in finance or consulting simply because these firms make it so easy to apply. It should be just as easy to apply for research opportunities, thesis funding, positions at non-profit organizations, or even professional sports teams.

HCSC: What do you miss most about Southern California (other than the weather)?

MS: I miss driving. I don't miss the 101, but I definitely miss driving.

HCSC: How do you think Southern California will figure into your future after Harvard?

MS: That's a great question and one I don't fully know the answer to yet. I plan on working in New York after college for at least a few years, but after that, anything can happen.
